More than a dozen parents and other residents Wednesday called on Los Angeles Unified School District board members to reinstate campus police at secondary schools following the death of a 17-year-old senior after he fell from his school's fourth floor.

Xavier Nungaray-Martinez died Sept. 30 after falling at Benjamin Franklin High School in Highland Park. The L.A. County Medical Examiner has ruled Xavier's death a suicide.

Reina Orellana, a relative who represented Xavier's family at the school board meeting, said her son dealt with bullying in LAUSD schools to the point where she had to pay him to get psychological help.

Now, she said her daughter, who was at Franklin the day Xavier died, is also traumatized. She questioned why school officials didn't intervene earlier, as family members have said Xavier dealt with bullying since his
