

Journal Inquirer

CTINSIDER.COM/JOURNALINQUIRER • FRIDAY, OCTOBER 30, 2026 • VOL. 160, NO. 252 • $2.00

Conn. billionaire funds Democrats

Courtesy photo

Stephen Mandel, shown in a 2011 photo, was worth $3.6 billion in 2023, Forbes reports.

Mandel gives over $35M to candidates nationwide

By Alex Putterman and Brianna Gurciullo

STAFF WRITERS

One of the most powerful figures in American politics lives in Connecticut, and unless you're a political junkie, you may have never heard of him.

Increasingly, Greenwich hedge fund manager Stephen Mandel has emerged as one of the largest funders of Democratic politicians and liberal causes anywhere in the country. Along with his wife, Susan, he's

INSIDE

Fact check: Data support Lamont growth claim, but record uneven Page 9

Outside spending on governor's race drops Page 13

contributed tens of millions to candidates and political action committees and, according to multiple national news outlets, has teamed with other like-minded

Mandel continues on 4

Top 25 donors gave 20% of campaign contributions

Philip Bump

COMMENTARY

Human evolution did not prepare us for the number "one trillion." We can conceptualize 10 easily. We have a sense of what 100 is, or 1,000. But then our comprehension breaks down. What is a hundred thousands, really? A thousand thousand?

Try to guess what time it will be a thousand thousand seconds from noon on Oct. 27. Did you guess that it will be after midnight on Nov. 8? I suspect not.

Because of this innate limitation, it's hard for us to really understand what

Bump continues on 6

HOUSING EYED FOR FORMER ENFIELD SCHOOL

PAGE 3

EARLY FLU SEASON KILLS 6 IN CONNECTICUT

PAGE 9

