Fans of Edgar Allan Poe can step into a candlelit historic home and experience dramatic performances of the writer’s most famous tales and poems during “An Evening with Edgar Allan Poe” at the Hedge House Museum in Plymouth.

The Plymouth Antiquarian Society will present the immersive program Oct. 9-11 at the museum, 126 Water St., according to a community announcement. Guests will move through the dimly lit rooms of the historic property while encountering live interpretations of Poe’s stories and verse.

The event also explores Plymouth’s connection to Poe through Lizzie Doten, a Plymouth native who became a nationally known medium and poet during the Victorian spiritualist movement. Doten claimed some of her poetry was communicated by Poe after his
