

StarLifestyle

Cabin behaviour

Frequent travellers in Malaysia share their long-haul flight habits and what they do to pass the time. >3

StarBiz 7

Next growth play

IOI Corp is diversifying into solar energy, biomass, coconut and higher-value manufacturing. >3

StarMetro

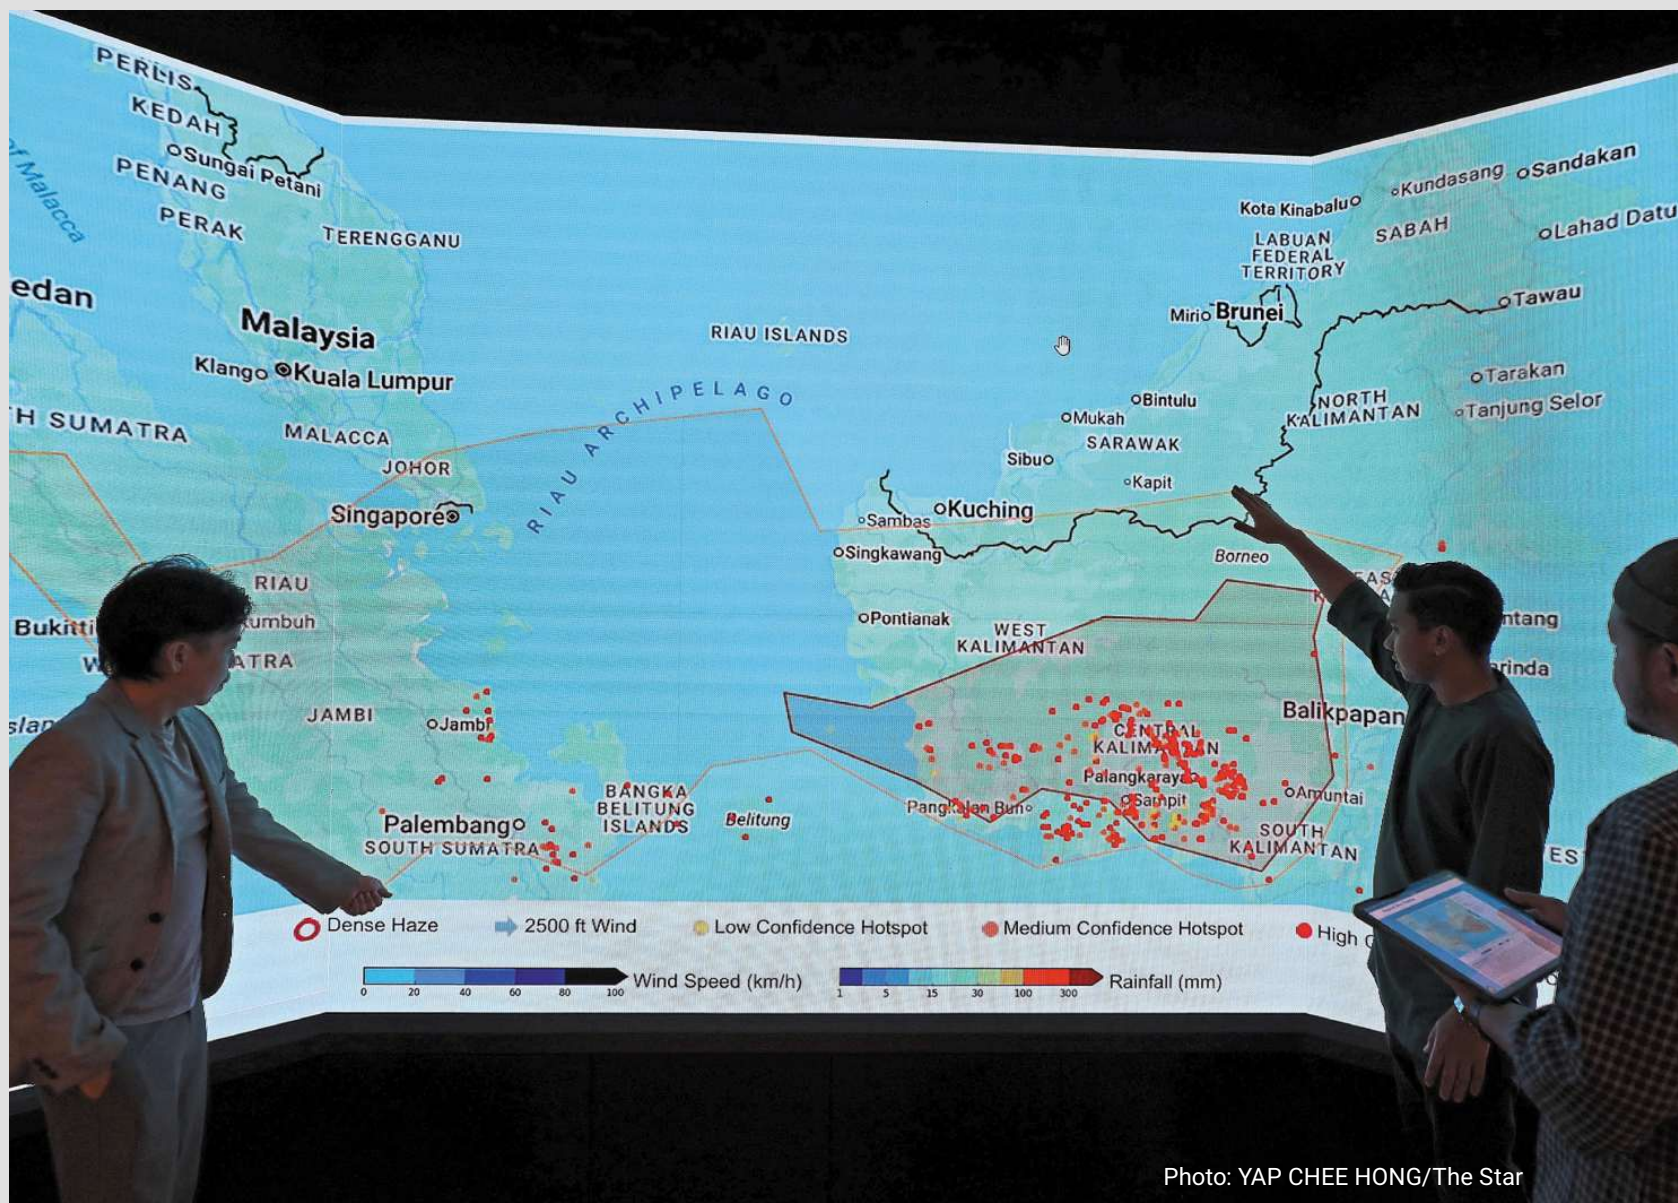

In full swing

Deepavali brings colour, crowds and festive cheer to Klang's Little India. >3

Waze ban may go further

The government could widen the ban on navigation app Waze to all Malaysians if there are suitable alternative apps, says the Prime Minister. Local app TuJu has also been told to improve its user-friendliness, following many complaints.

> Read reports on pages 2&4

Plenty of hotspots

An Asean Specialised Meteorological Centre map showing satellite-detected fire hotspots in Kalimantan and Sumatra, Indonesia. An environmental group said the haze reflects longstanding failures in environmental governance and a lack of corporate accountability, among others.

> Read reports on page 5

Photo: YAP CHEE HONG/The Star

Sarawakians get set to vote

With the state assembly to be dissolved on Monday, Sarawak is ready for its 13th election. For the ruling coalition, Gabungan Parti Sarawak, a mix of experienced and new faces will be fielded. More importantly, new leaders beyond Premier Tan Sri Abang Johari Openg's era are set to be introduced.

> Read reports on page 3 by RAGANANTHINI VETHASALAM and SHARON LING