Walmart is lowering prices on thousands of products in both Walmart and Sam's Club stores throughout the summer.

President Donald Trump announced the news in a July 6 Truth Social post.

"This is a huge deal for the many millions of Americans who, smartly, shop at Walmart, which is a truly patriotic Company who loves the U.S.A.," Trump said. "Walmart is stepping up in a big and bold way, and other Retailers should follow the lead of these absolute Patriots."

Walmart then confirmed the move in a news release on July 6.

"Customers count on Walmart to deliver the value they need every day, and summer is no exception," said Julie Barber, executive vice president and chief merchandising officer of Walmart U.S.

According to Walmart, the price of a pound of 73% ground beef roll will drop by 12%, going from $6.74 to $5.94.

At Sam's Club, Member's Mark 88/12 ground beef will drop by 3%, going from $6.17 to $5.97 per pound.

Apart from ground beef, Walmart said that customers can expect savings across "grocery, household essentials, outdoor living, toys, and apparel."

Dunkin' and Jimmy John's should be ready to open by November on the west side of Tecumseh.

Tecumseh Development Services Coordinator Sonya Grubb confirmed the updated timeline to The Daily Telegram on July 7. The timeline was pushed back after winter weather delayed construction.

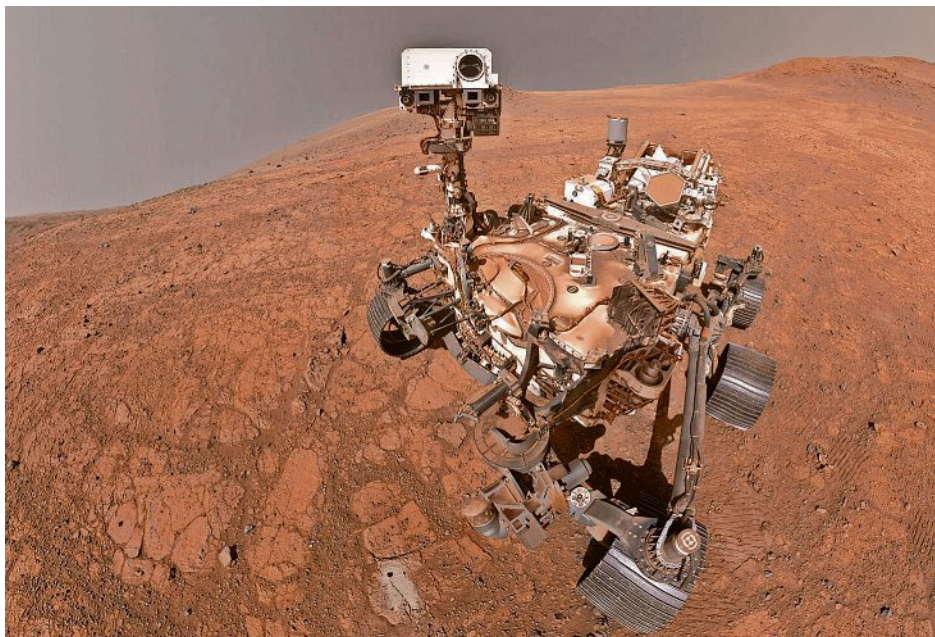

The project is now underway at 1301 W. Chicago Blvd. — a former Wendy's — where plans call for a two-tenant restaurant building with drive-thru service at both ends.

The Tecumseh Planning Commission provided special land use and final site plan approval in November 2025. During that meeting, developer Mike Howard said the building's existing drive-thru will be re-used for Dunkin' and a second drive-thru will be added for Jimmy John's.

Officials have described the property as a high-profile site that's drawn multiple redevelopment proposals.

WASHINGTON — Using NASA's Perseverance rover, scientists are getting a greater understanding of the nature of some of the organic carbon — the molecular backbone for all known living organisms — detected on Mars as they explore the question of whether Earth's planetary neighbor ever harbored life.

New research describes the structure of the organic carbon found last year by the rover in sedimentary rock that contained a potential biosignature — a possible sign of past microbial life.
