

Sports: Ramsay says he's got what it takes to coach in the U.K. B1

Music: 'SNL' host gave the Replacements a nod with T-shirt. A3

World: Dozens are killed as two trains collide in Spain. A8

Morning Report

Start your day with the best and most important stories handpicked by editors each weekday.

To sign up, go to:

TwinCities.com/newsletters

PIONEER PRESS

Serving our community for 176 years

| TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, 2026 | TWINCITIES.COM |

ICE protesters disrupt services

St. Paul church pastor works for the agency

By Jack Brook
ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Department of Justice said Sunday it is investigating a group of protesters in St. Paul who disrupted services at a Summit Avenue church where a local official with U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement apparently serves as a pastor.

A livestreamed video posted on the Facebook page of Black Lives Matter Minnesota, one of the protest's organizers, shows

a group of people interrupting services at the Cities Church by chanting "ICE out" and "Justice for Renee Good."

The 37-year-old mother of three was fatally shot by an ICE agent in Minneapolis earlier this month amid a surge in federal immigration enforcement activities.

St. Paul officers were called to the church, at Summit and Snelling avenues, about 10:40 a.m., after receiving reports that some 30 to 40 protesters had interrupted services, according to police spokesperson Nikki Muehlhausen. By the time officers arrived, the group had left and was walking down the alley, she said.

See CHURCH on Page A10

PRESSURING TARGET

Demonstrators stage a peaceful sit-in Monday at the Target store in West St. Paul. After several recent incidents in Twin Cities stores, the demonstrators called on the Minneapolis-based retailer to take a stand against the Trump administration's immigration crackdown. Article, Page A12. SCOTT OLSON — GETTY IMAGES

Presence of ICE disrupting hospitals

By Jazmine Ulloa
NEW YORK TIMES

The arrival of thousands of federal immigration agents has altered life in Minneapolis and St. Paul in ways large and small, including in the corridors of hospitals serving the Twin Cities.

The sheer presence of the agents, sometimes in uniform, sometimes in plainclothes, has been enough to unnerve health care workers, who were already straining under conditions some have compared

See HOSPITALS on Page A10

MARTIN LUTHER KING JR. DAY

NEW CALL FOR PEACE

A man attending Monday's Martin Luther King Jr. Day observances places a wreath at the slain civil rights leader's memorial on the National Mall in Washington. BENDAN SMIALOWSKI — AFP VIA GETTY IMAGES

Twin Cities events underscore need to follow King's lead

By Imani Cruzen
ICRUZEN@PIONEERPRESS.COM

At a time in Minnesota marked by tension and protest, speakers at Martin Luther King Jr. Day events Monday reflected on the death of Renee Good, the assassination of state Rep. Melissa Hortman as well as the need to avoid further division and violence.

The 40th anniversary of the state-sponsored Martin Luther King Jr. Day Celebration, titled "One Dream. One Minnesota. Echoes of Unity" held at the Ordway Concert Hall in St. Paul and the Martin Luther King Jr. Holiday Breakfast in Minneapolis sponsored by General Mills recognized community leaders, King's legacy as well as the impact of thousands of federal law enforcement agents conducting immigration actions.

Monday's breakfast included a theme of making "a career of humanity," a reference to a 1959 speech by King that called on others to commit themselves to fighting for equal rights.

'IT'S THE WORK OF BRINGING CHANGE, WHICH IS NEVER EASY'

Soledad O'Brien, journalist and documentarian and keynote speaker at the breakfast, said Minneapolis is on front pages of newspapers across the world. She acknowledged that Minnesotans "must be exhausted."

"But every civil rights leader that I have ever interviewed talked about that moment when they, too, lost hope," O'Brien said. "And when they thought maybe it was too hard or not worth it. And what brought them back to hope was their religious faith, Number 1. Also, the faith that personal sacrifice could lead to a collective community strength. And, Number 3, to be hopeful you had to do hopeful things. You had to serve your community. Just sitting around and trying to feel hopeful was not going to work. ... It's the work of bringing change, which is never easy."

King is pictured in a historical photo taken at Contra Costa College in San Pablo, Calif., on Feb. 14, 1964. PETE BREINIG — SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE VIA ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Tim Walz, in a video interview aired during the Ordway event, said bridging divisions is especially important right now.

"Dr. King oftentimes talked about that sitting down, hearing people, of course, peaceful resistance, but saying, 'Look, these

See MLK on Page A9

sponsored by

Cub

TwinCities.com
PIONEER PRESS
TREASURE HUNT
2026

CLUE 3

Sitting with pen musing all in ken
Twigs and dolls filled the pages
A flashing demonic offered tonic,
The rhythm of the sages

GET A CLUE

Hunt clues will be released at about midnight at TwinCities.com/treasurehunt each day of the hunt.

FOR INFO

Official rules and previous locations where the medallion has been discovered are at TwinCities.com/treasurehunt.

Trump linking Greenland, 'his' Nobel

Feeling snubbed, text message hints at motive for seizure of island

By Aamer Madhani,
Geir Moulson
and Jill Lawless
ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Donald Trump linked his aggressive stance on Greenland to last year's decision not to award him the Nobel Peace Prize, telling Norway's prime minister that he no longer felt "an obligation to think purely of Peace," in a text message released Monday.

Trump's message to Jonas Gahr Store appears to ratchet up a stand-off between Washington and its closest allies over his threats to take over Greenland, a self-governing territory of NATO member Denmark.

See GREENLAND on Page A9