LACONIA — Belknap County's new administrator brings almost 20 years in municipal experience to the table, and she's ready to hit the ground running.

Carina Park has, for the last four years, served the Town of Lincoln as manager. Before that, Park was town administrator in Campton, for about seven years and yet before that, she worked in human resources in Waterville Valley.

A resident of Plymouth, and holder of a master's degree in human resources, Park will step into leadership in Belknap County at the end of January — right in the middle of the budget process.

"I'm honored to accept the role of Belknap County administrator and thankful for the confidence the county commissioners have shown in me,"

Snowshoe the Lakes Region

With 844 trails, Granite State offers some of finest winter walks in nation

Many New Englanders can recall coming across an antique set of snowshoes, their wooden frames and rawhide latticework materials withstanding the test of time. While modifications have since been made to the popular outdoor sports gear, snowshoeing is still a sought-after winter activity for many Granite Staters.

In New Hampshire, known across the country for its robust East Coast outdoor adventure scene in all four seasons, there are 844 snowshoeing
