

HILL COUNTRY FLOODS

GONE TOO SOON

The idyllic summer refuge along the Guadalupe River — where campers sing, kids swim and families gather — turned into the unthinkable when the water came too fast and took too much in the early hours of July Fourth.

They were daughters in sparkly bows, coaches who changed lives and quiet heroes who sacrificed their futures to save others. They had names and nicknames, talents and dreams.

The river took them all.

From left to right, starting at top: Abby Pohl; Amanda and Bobby Martin; Shiloh, Amber and Jeff Wilson; Penny, Emlyn and Madelyn Jeffrey; Blair and Brooke Harber; Bailey Martin; Hadley Hanna; Chloe Childress; Greta Toranzo; Mollie Schaffer; Jane Ragsdale; John Burgess; Julia Anderson Burgess; Katheryn Eads; Linnie McCown; Holland, Reece, Lyle and Paula Zunker; Katherine Ferruzzo; Mary Grace Baker; Hanna and Rebecca Lawrence; Tim Walker; Mary Kathryn Jacobe; Mary Stevens