Tyler Morning Telegraph

WEEKEND, JULY 12-13, 2025

TYLERPAPER.COM

inform. inspire. involve. #inetx

Curbside recycling returns in Tyler

SANTANA WOOD

curbside recycling, Tyler a structure fire at Rivers residents will once again Recycling in Kilgore, which found a new partner. be able to utilize this ser- handled the processing of July 14.

than a year-long pause.

After over a year without rarily suspended following another facility.

to rebuild but recently an- sort and sell all curbside The service was tempo- nounced it will not build recycling materials," the

However, the city has the city's curbside recycling the Northeast Texas Reday morning, noting the age and the closure of the cially opened its doors, and have to re-enroll. return of its curbside recy-plant. Rivers Recycling had the City of Tyler has signed cling program after more previously said it planned a contract with them to CURBSIDE >> PAGE 6A city said Wednesday.

All previously registered customers will be automat-"We are pleased to an- ically re-enrolled unless vice beginning Monday, materials collected through nounce that a new facility, they opted to cancel their service during the suspen-The City of Tyler an- program. This incident re- gional Materials Recovery sion period. Customers nounced the news Wednes- sulted in significant dam- Facility (NETX), has offi- who have canceled will

Cans and containers should be rinsed before they're placed in recycling carts. (Tyler Morning Telegraph File)

Hughes, Alders speak in Tyler

Lawmakers recap session, field locals' questions at town hall

JENNIFER SCOTT

Texas Sen. Bryan Hughes

and House District Rep. Daniel Alders hosted a town hall Thursday evening at Hollytree Country Bryan Hughes Club in Tyler, where about people gathered for a recap of recent legislative session, updates on the $u\,p\,c\,o\,m\,i\,n\,g\quad \text{Daniel Alders}$

session, and the chance to ask questions.

"It's an important conversation that we have to ensure that I understand my role representing 200,000 folks here in East Texas and Smith County," Alders said at the event, hosted by the Smith Country Republican Club. "We're going to make sure that we are accessible to the community and that our constituents have an opportunity to ask questions and make sure that we know how they feel about the issues that are facing the legislature. I'm happy to do events like this."

TOWN HALL >> PAGE 6A

President Donald Trump, first lady Melania Trump and Texas Gov. Greg Abbott meet with local emergency services personnel as they survey flood damage along the Guadalupe River on Friday in Kerrville. (Chip Somodevilla/Getty Images/TNS)

Trump sees devastation from floods in visit to Texas

KATE SULLIVAN Bloomberg News

resident Donald Trump in Texas on Friday viewed firsthand the devastation left by extreme flooding that killed at least 120 people and left scores still missing in the state's Hill Country region, seeking to reassure residents of the federal response to the disaster.

The president met with local officials and emergency workers in hard-hit Kerr County, where he received a briefing, accompanied on his visit by first lady Melania Trump and Texas Governor Greg Abbott. Trump surveyed the damage in a helicopter flight and then was shown what appeared to be a map of the flood-damaged area. overturned tractor trailer

Two men from an excavation company aiding in search and recovery look at debris left from the flood in Center Point on Tuesday. (Brenda Bazán for The Texas Tribune)

tion was evident — with Trump and the first lady standing in front of an The scale of the destruc- and amid downed trees, a testament to the force of the deadly, ravaging floodwaters which tore through the community.

"It's a horrible thing, a horrible thing. Nobody can even believe it, such a thing — that much water, that fast," Trump told reporters earlier Friday as he left Washington. "We're going to be there with some of the great families and others, the governor, everybody.'

The deaths from the disaster include children who had been attending a girls' summer camp located near the Guadalupe River, where high waters swept away cabins, bridges and roads. Camp Mystic said it had lost 27 campers and counselors in the deluge.

Officials in Kerr County, where the bulk of the deaths occurred, say the dead included 36 children and 60 adults. Around 160 people remain missing. The statewide death toll is expected to mount as rescuers continue to search through debris for those missing.

TRUMP >> PAGE 6A

FIND UP-TO-DATE COVERAGE OF EAST TEXAS AT TYLERPAPER.COM

"Whoever gives heed to instruction prospers, and blessed is he who trusts in the Lord." (Proverbs 16:20)

EXPERIENCE OUR E-EDITION

View our digital newspaper replica online daily at digital.tylerpaper.com

BECOME A SUBSCRIBER

Find details on home delivery and digital access at subscribe.tylerpaper.com

T-storm See the Tyler-East Texas 3-day forecast on Page 5A.

FOLLOW

Stocks

DOW

279.13

NASDAQ

-45.14

CD Special* Annual Percentage Yield (APY) lease contact us for other rates and terms. B month Certificate of Deposit. $25,000 Minimum Balance to receive for 35+ Consecutive Outstanding Years FIVE STARS is the highest rating awarded by Bauer and indicates that this institution is one of the SAFEST, CREDIT-WORTHY BANKS IN THE UNITED STATES. www.bauerfinancial.com

Citizens 1st BANK 2001 ESE Loop 323 | Tyler | 903-581-1900 FDIC