

Beaver Dam junior commits to South Carolina
softball
SPORTS, C1

Educators must rethink cheating
because of AI
360

‘GHOST SHIP’ FOUND IN LAKE MICHIGAN

WISCONSIN HISTORICAL SOCIETY PHOTOS
Wisconsin Historical Society diver Zach Whitrock collects images of the wreckage of the schooner F.J. King in Lake Michigan for a photo model on Aug. 23.

Schooner went down in storm off Door County in 1886

TODD RICHMOND
Associated Press

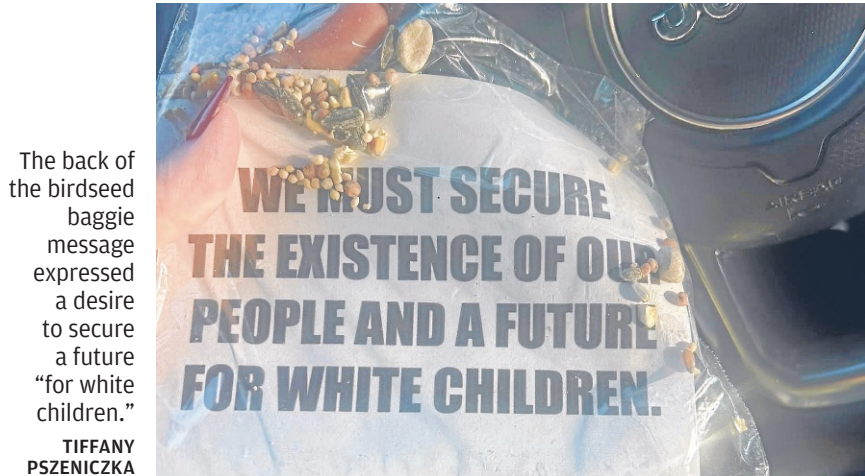

After decades of scouring the bottom of Lake Michigan, searchers have finally found the wreckage of a “ghost ship” that sank during a ferocious storm almost 140 years ago off the Wisconsin coastline.

The Wisconsin Historical Society and the Wisconsin Underwater Archeology Association announced Monday that a team led by researcher Brendon Baillod found the wreck of the F.J. King. Baillod said in an email to The Associated Press that the wreckage was discovered on June 28.

According to the announcement, Baillod’s team found the ship off Bailey’s Harbor, a town of about 280 people on Wisconsin’s Door Peninsula, an outcropping of land jutting into Lake Michigan that gives the state its distinctive mitten-thumb

Please see SHIPWRECK, Page A3
Quagga mussels cover the capstan of the F.J. King shipwreck in Lake Michigan on Aug. 23.

The back of the birdseed baggie message expressed a desire to secure a future “for white children.”
TIFFANY PSZENICZKA

White supremacist messages spread with birdseed in Baraboo

JOHN GITTINGS
jgittings@wiscnews.com

Plastic sandwich bags containing birdseed and small paper slips with white supremacist messages were found by Baraboo residents on Monday morning, prompting a Baraboo Police investigation.

In a Facebook post prior to investigating, department officials urged people who saw one of the bags to promptly discard it and notify an officer if they have camera footage of someone leaving the baggies on their property.

There is no danger to the public and the messages fall within First Amendment rights, Baraboo Police Chief Justin Carloni said on Monday, adding on Wednesday that the investigation is ongoing.

He declined to say how many bags had been discovered nor their locations, citing the open

Please see MESSAGES, Page A3

GET THE FULL BENEFITS OF YOUR SUBSCRIPTION!
Activate your digital account to get updated stories, videos, and hundreds of additional puzzles and comics. Visit wiscnews.com/activate and download our app for the E-edition and breaking news on the go!

Weather
Clouds and sun
High 85 • Low 59
FORECAST • A12

Inside
CLASSIFIEDS	C11
COMMUNITY	A2-3
LOCAL/STATE	A4
OBITUARIES	A3
OPINION	A10-11
SPORTS	C1

